THE DROUGHT.

From the Baltimore Chronicle of Saturday. Remarkable accounts, confirming the distressing reports of the privations produced by the great drought now prevailing all through the upper counties of Mayland, and that part of Pennsylvania, contiguous, are daily received.

Yesterday a wagon arrived in town, can-signed to Messrs. Elder and Taylor, which signed to Messrs. Elder and laylor, white felt Carlisle, (Pennsylvania,) with 20 barn's flour for Baltimore. The wagoner stats, that he could not get to town with flow; such was the distress for bread on the road. (or casioned by the mills stopping to grist for want of water,) that he in charity, sold for want of water,) that he in charity, sold it out at 7 dollars a barrel, to relieve the lm mediate wants of the public on the road.

Another fact, to show the distress cretted by this unprecedented drought, is, that a house in this town, who owns mills on the Susquehanna, on the appearance of a tise of the water, (occasioned from a fall or rain higher up.) started some arks from York Haven, which could not get down on account of the water leaving them. This flour was stored on the river, and hu since been sold at $6 1-2 per barrel in the neighbourhood, to supply their immediate wants. Such an occurrence we trust and hope, may not happen again. But faying gons coming in, not one of which cas fail town with a full load of flour.

A DISAPPOINTMENT.

Wheeling, (Va.) Aug. 17. On Monday last, a commission merchant in this place delivered a trunk to a waggoner, to take it to Baltimore with particular injunctions to be careful of it; as it was of great value. The next morning

the wagoner was not a little alarm-

soon relieved from his disagreeable feelings by discovering it at no great distance. The probability is, that some thief had carried it off, ima-

Smyrna, 27th May, 1822. "You will probably have a variety of accounts of the murders committed upon the Greeks liare, after the insurrection at Scio. As far as I can ascertain, about one hundred have been killed in the streets, all in cold blood, without the least priocation or shadow of resistance, & (although the government pretend to discourage it) with impunity to the assassins. The reports which may reach yeu of the disturbances here may possibly be exaggerated; but from the information we have from Scio, and from, what I have been told by persons of veracity who have witnessed the transactions there, an exaggeration of the barbarities committed by the Turks on the population of that island-is, almost beyond human ingenuity, the males have been destroyed, (many by the most cruel torments) and the females and children made slaves to the barbarians. Great numbers have been brought to this place, and upon an attempt of the Franks to rescue some of them, a crier was sent round the town forbidding any sales of them to Christians, and many who were formerly in affluence remain slaves to the worst of the human race. I have seen such sights during my stay here, that make humanity recoil at the idea."

POSTSCRIPT.

From the Ballimore American. FROM HAVANA

By the Spanish brig Orester, Capt. Garcia, we are favoured with Havana papers, including the 14th inst. We can only glean the fol-lowing from them:

On the 13th arrived from Palma in 30 days the American brig Factor. The Canaries remained in the utmost tranquility, and firmly devoted to the Constitutional System, The rumours of their independence were given from the vague report of a contrabandist of tobacco, at Gibraitar, who had fled.

Tarragona, 27th June. On the 24th June, the political chief of the province of Gerona, issued an address to the inhabitants, announcing a victory, gained over the rebels, on the day before, at Blanes, by a column under the command of Colobi, in which they were beaten and completely dispersed, leaving on the field a considerable number killed, and among them Bessieres, a great many wounded, including the apostate Curate Caro-minolas, called Chaplain of the first regiment of the faith. On the part of Con Colobi, the loss consisted of but two or three killed and one wounded. He remained in pursuit of the fugitives.

Under date of the 2d July, is published a despatch of the 30th June, from Don A. Baiges, detailing a skirmish he had with the rebels. He proceeded with a detachment from Villa Franca, to protect the route of the Diligences, and restrain the rovings of the factious. In the town of Llorens he attacked a body of at least 300 with the bayonet .-They left 19 killed, besides a number wounded. His awn loss was two killed.
